

By Shelly Springborn

Going to class is just part of what college is about.

It's also a time to meet new people, explore your interests and have some fun.

Montcalm Community College's Woodside Café recently got a facelift to make it more inviting for students and visitors. Located in the Activities Building on the college's